

Water Distribution Systems include the facilities and infrastructure for the collection, treatment, transmission, and storage of water to homes and businesses meeting all quality and quantity requirements.

